

148
 I more of gladnesse and day of lustynesse
 I more amysse with honerly merrynesse
 I more of boante and of goodnesse
 I more which I effunde in silence
 Of grace I beseeche alwaye let your writings
 Flow of al goodes with ye be best lynnys

Salade vpon the Chanuse of the Dysc. CXXI

Iust myn vntunynge and myn wisdomme
 Vnto ym alle that lysten knowe her chauce
 By caste of dysc in your hertes impress
 And by gode wille to doon folow plesance
 Alle be I haue of myn no suffisance
 This worldes course I haue herd sey ful vyle
 Ye that alle folke shall not at once thynke

I pray to god that eny myght may caste
 Vpon thre dysc wyse as is in hys herte
 Whether he be rechelesse or stedfastte
 So marte he laryghen onther elles smerte
 He that is gilty his lyfe to conuerte
 They that in trowth haue suffred many a thowte
 Whote ther chauce fal as they marte be knowe

Wyth fortune hathe of alle thyngs godmanne
 How enor ye happe excused holdeth me
 For neyther am I worthy to here penance
 Be thanke amly in no maner degre
 But natheles this wol I sey for me
 He that yow besto may helpen in this neede
 Wyth me to caste I pre fortune yow speede

Explicit Salade vpon the Chanuse of the Dysc. CXXI